

How to sign up:

1. go to www.atmosfeed.org
2. If you have a twitter username input it into the form, if you do not have one, it is possible to sign up for free at twitter.com
3. Input your own personal password for signing into atmosfeed
4. In the zipcode or city field you can choose to either to put in either one, if you choose to put in your zipcode or post code for European countries that is all that is necessary, you can then move on to step 6. However, if you choose to input your city instead then the state field must also be chosen.
5. In the state field there are all 50 states of the United States as well as support for France, Germany, Spain, and Great Britain(others soon to come).
6. Click on submit and a page will load showing either the success of the subscription or failure. If a failure occurs a description of the error will be shown to you and explain as to why the subscription failed.

How to login:

1. Go to www.atmosfeed.org and there you will see a log in form.
2. Type in the username and password you used to register with and submit.
3. A page will then load showing current stations that you are registered for.

How to add another station to your account:

1. Sign in at the main page www.atmosfeed.org.
2. Your account page will appear and there you will see a form to add another station.
3. Fill in the information in the same manner as you registered and the station will be added to your account, there is a limit of 5 stations you can register for your account.
4. If all five station slots have been filled a page will appear asking if you want to replace one of the previously registered stations with the new one that you have entered. You can choose whether to cancel or replace one of the stations with the new one.
5. If you choose to replace one of the previously registered stations with the new one your account page will reappear with the new station replacing the old one.
